CAMPAIGN FOR NEW HOSPITAL COUNCIL INSTRUCTS POLICE WILL COMMENCE NEXT WEEK TO PLACE BICYCLES IN POUND

Company Formed, Charter Granted — Will be Known as West Lincoln Memorial Hospital in Honor of Men Who Have "Gone West".

GIFT OF C. J. EAMES

Building Was Constructed in 1921 From Plans Brought From Scotland — Will be "A Haven of Hope And Mercy"—Subscriptions Are Needed.

In 1921 a group of public spirited citizens in Grimsby, North Grimsby and Beamsville, with the help of some of the then public spirited residents of Grimsby Beach, banded themselves together to acquire lands and construct a golf course, and build a club house for that golf course.

The land was acquired from one of the biggest boosters of the idea, the late Charles Wouters. The club house was constructed along the lines of plans brought directly from Scotland by the late Captain Hamilton Fleming, ex-Reeve of North Grimsby and ex-Warden of Lincoln county. The plans were an exact pattern of one of the oldest golf course club houses in Scotland, the land of the birth of golf.

KENNETH GRIFFITH, B.A.

For some reason or other Grimsby has been lucky in its choice of public school principals. Beginning with the late James Brodie, then the late David Sykes, then the late John A. Dale, then John H. "Daddy" Foran (one reason why he was successful, was because the editor of this paper never went to school to him) and for the past 10 years Kenneth Griffith, B.A. (McMaster). In the time of this publication Grimsby Public School has grown from a one-room affair (Mrs. Moore's home, Elm and Mountain streets) to the present 12 room modern school, well staffed. Principal Griffith is a son of Gore Bay on the Manitoulin. Before coming to Grimsby he was Principal of Drumbo Continuation school, and Lynden Continuation school. He is married. Lives on Robinson street south and has one little daughter.

Where Real Fish Come From—The Big Ones Don't Get Away

These are busy days on Grimsby lake front. Local fishermen are using three high-powered gasoline boats in their work. While the catch this season is not a record one, still it is above the average of the past few years. Nets are being set as far as 20 miles out into the lake. All the catch is shipped to New York. After the nets are brought in and cleaned of fish, they are hung on big revolving racks to dry and later wound on small reels which are placed on the rear of the boats and play out the net into the water when setting. In the accompanying picture the nets are shown being reeled. Joseph (Gussie) Hand, is seen in the centre of the foreground group. Edward Hand, Sr. and Teddy Hand, are working on the reels at the right. The Hand family have been fishing out of Grimsby port for over three generations.

MEN THAT PLY SEVEN SEAS NEED CHRISTMAS DITTY BAGS GRAPE CEILING ESTABLISHED; PRICES ARE SCALED UPWARDS

You Pick And Can The Best Fruit In The Fruit Belt — They Carry it to The Fighting Forces And Our English Cousins.

IT'S DITTY BAGS

Mrs. "Buddy" Shafer Has Shipped 88 — Has 250 Being Filled — Needs Plenty More Before October 15th — Read The Seamen's Letters.

That Great Chieftain of the Allied Nations tells us that the U-boat menace has been controlled. He does not tell us that it has been wholly conquered. He does not tell us that the sea lanes are entirely empty of German undersea marauders. He does not tell us that our merchant ships and their gallant, heroic seamen can ply the North, South Atlantic or any other ocean without fear of being sunk.

Therefore the need of the Merchant Marine Man is as great today as ever it was. It is just as necessary today that our fighting sons on a dozen fronts be fed as it was a year ago. It is just as vital that our cousins in England get their daily ration of bread and other foodstuffs as ever it was.

Who makes all that great supply of food and other necessities of life, including the much needed medical supplies possible? THE MERCHANT MARINE.

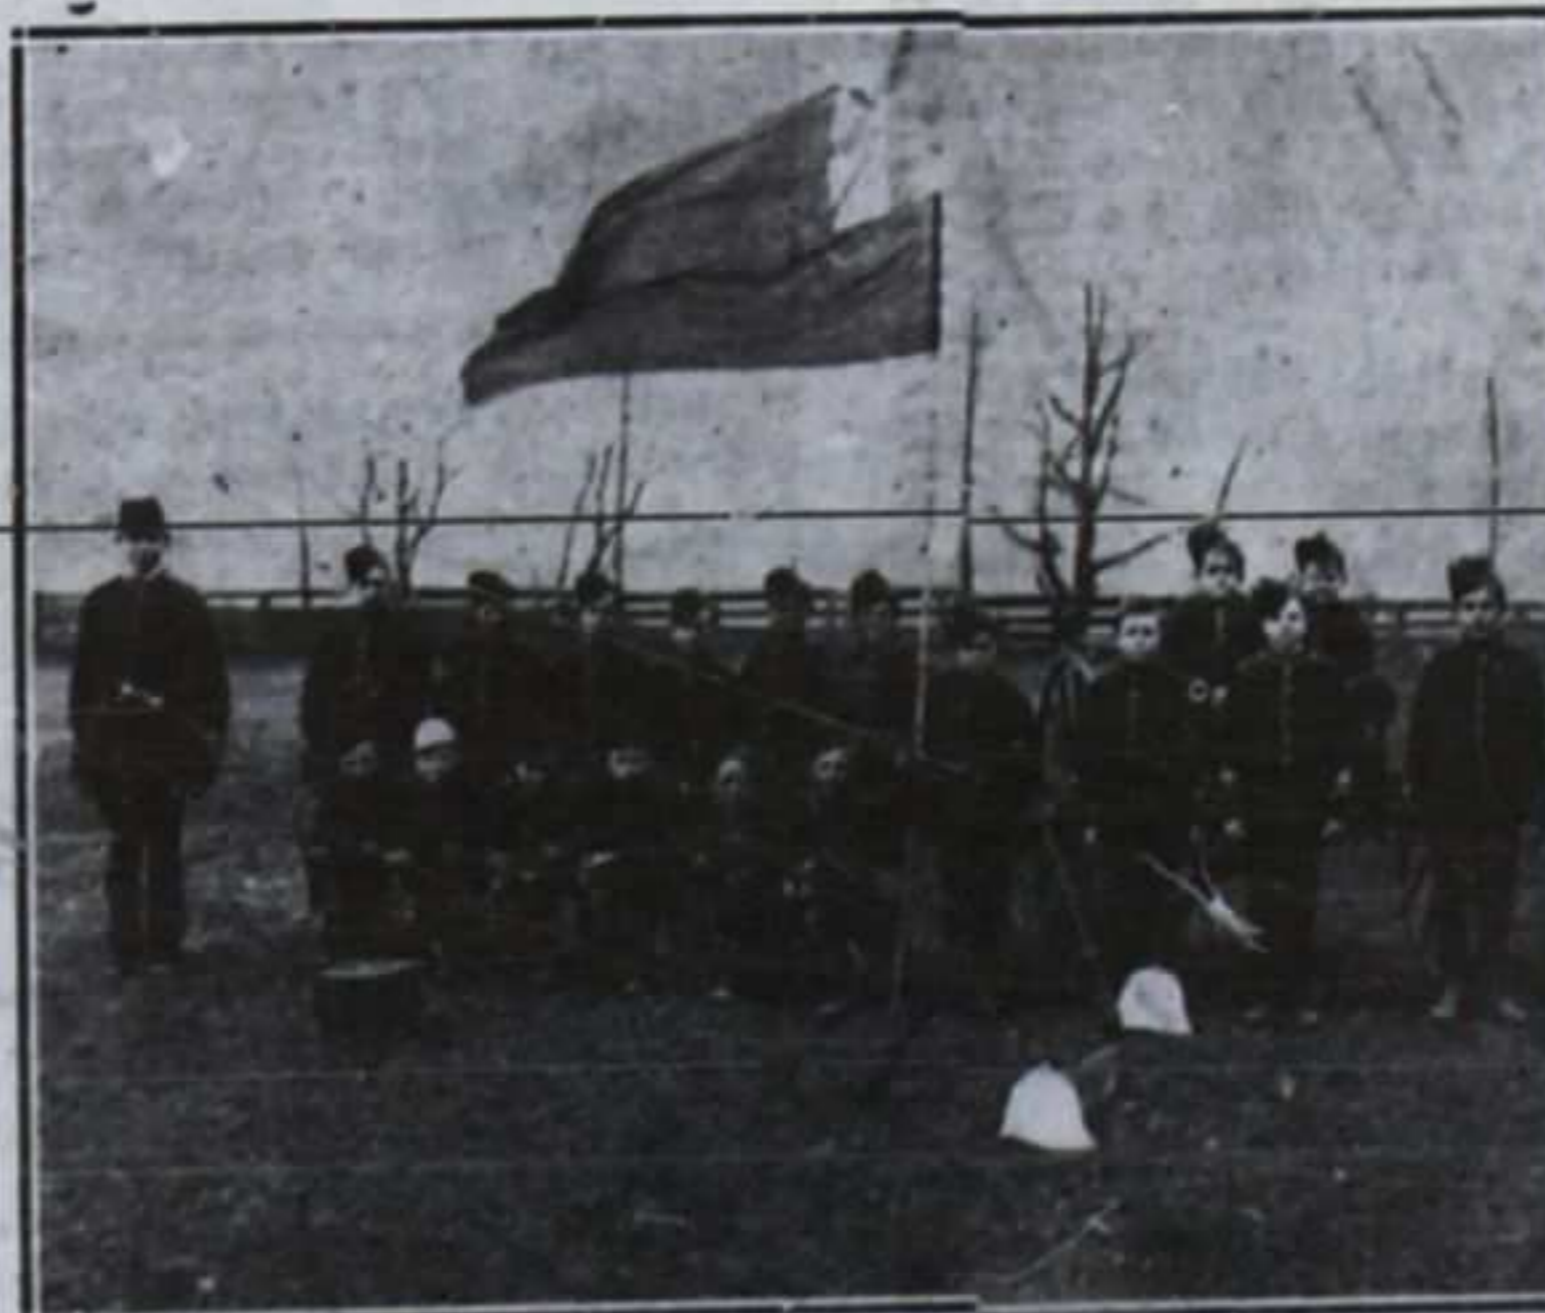

Grimsby branch of The Navy League, while only 19 months old, has performed a marvellous work. It has created a record for the Dominion, for time of operation, in every way that their work was concerned.

Now it is Ditty Bags, Christmas is coming. Time is short. Seamen who have given and are giving their all are looking forward to something at Christmas. Particularly a Ditty Bag. Let's see if they cannot receive one from Grimsby.

Mrs. "Buddy" Shafer, who has had charge of the Ditty Bag business for the Navy League informs The Independent that since formation of the local branch 88 bags have been supplied. There are at the present time 250 bags out among the residents to be filled. Those bags should be returned at once.

Slight Reduction In Peach Prices

Zones Have Been Eliminated to Assist in a Wider Distribution—Also Covers Pears And Plums.

It was announced on Friday night last by Wartime Prices and Trade Board that a "slight reduction" in consumer prices of peaches, pears and plums in many parts of Eastern Canada is expected to result from an amended order designed to overcome certain difficulties in the distribution of these fruits.

Peaches, pears and plums were placed under price ceilings by a board order of Aug. 16, and this measure outlined three zones de-

Blue And White Varieties 36 Cents to Grower From Shipper, Trucker or Wholesaler — Red Rogers 39 Cents—55 And 60 Cents to Consumer.

ALREADY IN EFFECT

This Price is The Second Highest on Record — Previous High Figure in 1921 When 40 Cents Was Paid—Covers Imported Grapes.

Wartime Prices and Trade Board Friday night announced an order, effective Sept. 6, establishing a ceiling price for the sale of grapes grown in Ontario and British Columbia and for those imported into Canada. The order follows the recent establishment by the board of ceiling prices for peaches, pears and plums.

It set maximum prices for standard six-quart baskets, either flat packed or open packed, and provides that a flat-packed container must have a flat-top cover and contain at least seven pounds of grapes, while the open pack must hold at least eight pounds of grapes.

Blue or white varieties may be sold by Ontario growers to licensed shippers, wholesalers' agents, truckers, wholesale distributors or retailers who operate central warehouses separate from the retail outlet and take delivery at such warehouses at 36 cents a basket.

This is the second highest grape price on record, the highest being in 1921 when the figure was 40 cents per basket.

Black Roger or red varieties may be sold by Ontario growers at 39 cents a basket. On sales by licensed shippers, wholesalers' agents or truckers to a wholesale distributor the maximum selling price is 39 cents a basket for blue or white varieties and 43 cents for Black Roger or red varieties.

Where a grower, licensed shipper, wholesaler's agent or trucker sells to any other type of retailer the maximum price is 41 cents a basket for blue or white grapes and 45 cents for Black Rogers or reds.

Where a grower or trucker sells to a consumer the ceiling price is 55 cents a basket for blue or white Careless Parking of Wheels All Over Sidewalks by Young Lads And Youths Must Cease — School Principals Asked to Warn Pupils.

TAX COLLECTIONS GOOD

Council Will Look Over Depot And Main, West, Corner. With a View to Widening Same—Two More Building Lots Sold.

Careless and haphazard parking all over the sidewalks of the town by the young lads and youths is going to be stopped immediately. Town council in session last night issued orders to the police to impound all bicycles found on the streets that are improperly parked and causing inconvenience to pedestrians.

Mayor Johnson stated that he had received several complaints, particularly from ladies with baby carriages about the manner in which the boys just drop their wheels on the sidewalk any place and thus block the sidewalk for people walking.

Last Spring, at the request of the Mayor, the school Principals warned the bicycle riders that they must park their wheels properly against the buildings or on stands on the curb side of the sidewalks. This warning has apparently been of little effect as of late the sidewalks have been totally blocked several times a day by bicycles

Provided F.D.R.'s Telephone Service

Former Grimsby Beach Man Had Charge of All Communication Lines to Birch Island Fishing Grounds.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt went fishing at Birch Island in the Manitoulin country great preparations were made by the Bell Telephone Co. to provide him and his party with vast telephone facilities, especially long distance line to Toronto, Ottawa and Washington.

Special lines were strung into the north and a constant 24 hour service was given through Sudbury office. All this work previous to Mr. Roosevelt's arrival and the supervision of all lines during his stay was taken care of by a Grimsby man.

That man was Frank C. Bucholtz, P.B.X. repairman at Sudbury and a son-in-law of Charles Southward, Grimsby Beach.

Pedagogue

P. V. SMITH, B.A.

Principal of Grimsby High School since September of 1936, previous to which he was Principal of Listowel and Watford schools. He claims Listowel as his home town. Is very highly regarded in this district by both pupils and parents. Holds a Captain's commission in the Ontario Cadet Corps and this summer was Quartermaster of the Cadet camp at Bolton. Has one son, now in third year of Engineering at Toronto University.

Now Best Time To Plant Peonies

Peonies are general garden favourites in all parts of Canada. They flourish in any good garden soil and under a great variety of climatic conditions. They will not grow well in poor, sandy soil nor in a position which is flooded for any length of time in spring.

September is the best time to divide and transplant peonies, but they should not be moved more often than once in five years unless there is some special reason for doing so, says Miss Isabella Preston, Horticultural Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Choose a fine day for digging up the plants and take care not to damage the roots, which in a large plant may go down for a foot or more. The leaves of the plant should be cut off before starting to dig, the loose earth removed from the roots which should be kept exposed to the air for a few hours. Wash off all the soil with water.

Examine the root carefully in order to find out where it can be divided with as little damage to the tubers as possible. A very large clump can be divided by forcing a digging fork down into the centre, but smaller ones can be forced apart by hand. Each division must consist of a tuber with two or three eyes, but divisions consisting of several tubers with six or seven eyes are better for the ordinary garden.

Before planting, the ground should be well dug and if possible some well rotted manure added and well mixed in. The root should be placed so that there is about two inches of soil above the crown. Too deep planting is frequently the cause of peonies not blooming. A mulch should be put on the first year after the soil has frozen, but when the plants are well established no mulch is necessary.

The leaves should be cut off each fall and burned in order to destroy any disease germs which might be present. There are several diseases that attack peonies; if any are noticed part of the root, stem and leaves should be sent to Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for examination.

BREAKS CEILING

A Sarnia wholesaler found guilty of selling potatoes above ceiling prices was fined $150.

BUTTER MOUNTAIN

By Oct. 1st, Canada should have at least 70 million pounds of butter in store to ensure maintenance of the half pound ration throughout next winter, according to the administrator of Dairy Products, W.P.T.B.

THE WOMAN NEXT DOOR

Looks At Us, At Our Town, And Occasionally At The World

BY HOLLIS

Boy Aviator

His books and lessons all forgot, he stares
Far off where in a little patch of sky
A droning plane goes gloriously by;
The sight has banished all his classroom cares,
And now his grave imagination fares
Magnificently forth upon the high
And shining pathways where his heroes fly,
The ways his leaping mind already shares.

No far faint barking of wild geese in Spring,
No leap of trout where running brooks are clear,
May lure his mind like that hoarse murmuring
Of distant motors in his dreaming ear.
He loves the flawless beauty of a wing,
This boy to whom the distant clouds are dear.

What's To Eat, Mom?

The time of the school lunch has come round again. Bicycles have solved the problem for many mothers and children, but there are still many who are dependent on their own sturdy legs to carry them to and from the halls of learning.

Cheese, both Cheddar and cottage, nuts, peanut butter, which will probably become more plentiful as time goes on, eggs, flaked fish, and baked or boiled beans, all provide the proteins required by active children. Combine these with fresh tomatoes, sweet relish, circles of sweet green peppers, carrot sticks, watercress, celery or grated cabbage.

A bunch of grapes, a juicy pear, peach or apple, a small jar of honey or jelly tucked in the corner of the lunch box, is just the thing for dessert. While the weather continues warm, fill the thermos with chilled fruit juice or cold milk. For cool days, change to warm drinks.

Next in importance to the school lunch is the after-school "piece" demanded by every healthy child as he comes clamouring in at the kitchen door. For the child who is inclined to linger on the way, the expectation of a tasty "piece" waiting for him acts as a magnet to draw him from by-paths of play and adventure, and get him home in time to do his share of the chores.

The Gardener's Friend

The Independent had a very interesting visitor last week. It was a Praying Mantis, and was brought in, enclosed in a cardboard box, by an elderly gentleman and two or three small boys.

Up until a few years ago the Mantid family was found mainly in the tropics and the Southern States. Recently an imported variety has spread over many Middle and Northern States and into Canada, and it was one of these that called on the Independent. We noticed several round about the town the same week, and wondered if perhaps they were on their leisurely way home from the Weekly Newspaper Warrenton in Toronto, or going up to Quebec for the War Conference. Its descriptive name "Praying" comes from its habit of standing with its arm-like forelegs folded in an attitude that suggests prayer.

The adult Mantid has three pairs of legs, and wears a neat, sleek gray-green tailcoat. It is from 2½ to 3½ inches long, and is the only known insect that can turn its head freely—which it does at the slightest noise. It approaches an insect cautiously, and then suddenly unfolds its formidable, tooth-lined forelegs and snatches its unsuspecting victim. It uses these strong legs in self-defence, too, for Mantids do not bite or sting and should never be killed, as they destroy harmful insects.

A Great Hand To Put Things Up

My mother was a great hand to "put things up," so we had a cellarful of jars and crocks filled to the brim with "preserves," as did most farmers. Bins were filled with vegetables and apples, and there was the "root hole" outside.

My father maintained that vegetables kept better and longer in the earth than they did in the cellar, so while bins and barrels were filled to last until after Christmas, the big hole outside stored and protected them for late winter and early spring. When the bins were emptied and vegetables and apples in the cellar were getting wilted and flavorless, we would go out to the root cellar, dig away the snow, the earth, the straw, and paw around in the dark until we came to the crisp cold contents, with their earthy flavor. Potatoes, turnips, beets, cabbages, and apples went into the root hole.

Come early spring, however, and even the vegetable hole began to show both depletion and deterioration. The snow was melting, the straw generating heat. What was left of the cabbage after stripping off layer after layer of outer leaves was white and sound and sweet, but there wasn't much of it. The turnips, (beegies, we called them, being an old ivory color on the outside shading into purple at the top, and richly yellow in the flesh) were beginning to sprout.

Yes, it was pretty slim pickin's on the farm along toward spring, but once the thrilling sight of a curled or still unfolded leaf of what the ignorant call "weeds" showed itself beside the road or in the field, our gastronomic troubles were over. It was the season of "greens" and would last from the first serrated dandelion leaf to the garden beets and turnip tops. Practically any and every green thing that stuck its succulent head above the ground was subject to our azure and basket.

From the middle of April when the earliest dandelions could be found at the edge of the south meadow, until milkweed had outgrown its tender milky toothlessness, my mother could be persuaded any afternoon, or, as the days grew longer, when the supper work was done, to take a basket and a knife in pursuit of "greens."

Sometimes my father would make one of the party. He would gather the golden cowslips from the marsh, and he also initiated my mother into the art of cooking certain edible weeds with which her traditions had not been acquainted. Pokeweed was one of these. None of our folks—Aunt Hanner, nor Aunt Sophrony, nor Adelaide, nor Aunt Marthy—had ever cooked pokeweed. Aunt Hanner said they used to gather the berries to make "ink" with, but she wouldn't try the young shoots as greens until we had been eating them for two years. My father said that was exactly like Hanner.

I loved going after greens with my mother, for nothing ever escaped her eye—or ear. She knew the name of every flower from the earliest dog-tooth violet in the edge of the wood and the bluet sparkling like an azure star, to the last blue gentian in the frosty meadow grass. And she knew every bird by song, color, shape, and size, but she was not as well versed in their nesting habits as was my father.

He was the one who got us cowslips, he with his rubber boots on his feet and a market basket on his arm, while Shep barked warningly from the bank as I, in stout high shoes, ventured from bog to bog and invariably slipped into the water between. —From "Cousin William," by Della T. Lutes, in Christine Science Monitor.

Asphodel

To Greek and Roman poets and prose writers is due the legend that the plant asphodel brought forgetfulness of earthly cares and sorrows, and the tradition has been continued by the moderns. Recently a newspaper poet said, "Ah, there are surely fields of asphodel where all earth's bitterness is soothed away, and failure but a far, faint memory!"

Shakespeare has no reference to the asphodel, but Milton, Pope and other famous Englishmen make mention of the plant. In Pope's translation of the "Odyssey" we read: "And rest at last where souls unbodied dwell, in ever-flowing meads of asphodel."

The asphodel is a kind of lily that grows in southern Europe. The white asphodel is found near the Mediterranean; the yellow asphodel has red berries and is found wild in Sicily, Dalmatia, the islands of the Peloponnesus and the Crimea. The early French and English poets gave the name asphodel to the daffodil.

The New War Weapon

Overnight a spectacular new drug has made front-page news. It is Penicillin (pronounced pen-i-sil-in, accent on the third syllable), and is produced in minute quantities during the life processes of the common bread and cheese mold.

Its discovery was accidental. In 1929 some plates of bacteria culture, left out overnight by mistake on a laboratory table in England failed to grow because a contaminating mold had sprouted up and killed them off. Dr. Alexander Fleming of St. Mary's Hospital, London, announced the discovery and advanced the theory that the possibility of a useful antibacterial agent was indicated.

Not until Dunkerque and the bombing blitz was any serious thought given to the discovery. Then with the acute need for bactericidal medicines a group of doctors at Oxford began work on the penicillin mould. The results were clear-cut and electrifying. It is a most powerful weapon against the common forms of blood poisoning and gas gangrene that frequently develop from battle wounds. Unlike yesterday's wonder drugs, the sulfa compounds, which merely slow up bacterial growth, penicillin kills them. Its healing power is immense.

Labour Day

Labour Day is well named. Listen to what one working woman did on the "holiday":

Rose at six. Dressed for the day in twenty raincoats. Pulled up the shades. Opened all the doors wide. Brought in the milk bottle. Fed the cats. Prepared her own frugal breakfast of oven toast, bacon, eggs, a whole peach, fresh picked from the tree outside the kitchen door, and coffee. Washed the dishes. Swept and dusted the downstairs rooms.

Made apple jam, using a six quart basket of red Meibas. They were rather limp and over-ripe when bought, but having soaked in a pail of cold water overnight had crisped up nicely, and even lost their "worky" aroma.

Peels, cores, seeds, everything but the stalk and blossom end, went into the kettle. So did three or four cloves. Just enough water was put in the kettle to keep the fruit from sticking, and when quite soft the fruit was pressed through a colander to eliminate cores, seeds and skins. The cloves were salvaged and returned to the pulp. One cup of sugar to five of pulp was added and the kettle put back on the stove to simmer until the sugar was thoroughly assimilated.

The bright red skins gave the jam a pretty pink colour when finished and poured into jelly glasses. Cooking it in a glass kettle accounted for its retaining its maidenly blush. Metal would have darkened it.

Following that operation came chili sauce, made in the same kettle as the apple jam, without bothering to wash it out.

Before the chili sauce was finished—it takes its time—luncheon intervened, with one eye kept on the chili sauce kettle.

Then came the ironing of the Saturday washing. Only outside wearables were ironed, the rest all put away smoothly folded, making sure that each piece was bone dry.

Out in the garden to pick half a bushel of tomatoes which, if no interruptions occur, will go into juice the next evening.

The day wore on and after stop 3 for tea, an hour or two was spent in the garden pulling the most conspicuous weeds and cutting the dead roses to encourage the buds. Twilight deepened into night all too soon, sending the lady into the house for a session with the mending basket until bed time, when the cats were again fed and the lights put out.

Labour Day was over for another year. To-morrow, back to the workaday world.

Kanadian Kitchen Kommandos

Today every Canadian kitchen has its own Kommandos—the house wives who are joining the fight with their frying pans by saving every single drop of bacon grease, meat drippings and frying fats of every kind. All these fats will eventually take their places in the front firing lines, for the glycerine which is obtained from waste fats and bones is a vital component in high explosives.

Rendered fats should be poured through a strainer into a clean wide-mouthed metal container. Three items should be noted: (1) the straining process must be observed otherwise pieces of meat and unmelted fat will render the salvage useless. (2) The salvage receptacle should be scrubbed thoroughly before being used. (3) Care should be taken to make certain that the fats don't become rancid before being delivered to the neighborhood meat market or salvage depot, and should be kept in a cool place, preferably the refrigerator.

At least one thing has been sacrificed. We know what day Thanksgiving will come on this year.

The measure of a man sometimes is bigger than you thought before starting out to take his measure.

Saving Hot Water Saves Coal

The "five-inch tub," has Royal precedent. When fuel consumption had to be cut so drastically in Britain, the King ordered that no more than five inches of water be placed in the bath tubs of the Royal Household. Unless there is a major cut in consumption, Canadians may face a coal famine next winter. The young lady shown here is following the King's example and is using hot water sparingly. She is helping to save war-vital fuel.

BECKSTEAD-ARCHER

Kelen Margaret Archer, niece of R. and Mrs. Charles W. Durham, Grimsby Beach, was united in marriage to Mr. Donald A. Beckstead, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Beckstead, Williamsburg, Ont., Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in St. John's Presbyterian Church, Grimsby. Rev. George Taylor Munro, Grimsby, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, and wore a gown of white triple sheer with Queen Anne beaded which held in place a veil. Better Time roses were in her shower bouquet. Miss Erna Jackson, Hamilton, attended, gown in buttercup yellow chiffon, with matching beaded and veil, and carried apricot gladioli.

Mr. Thomas J. Archer, St. Catharines, was best man, and Messrs. William Powell and Robert Powell, St. Catharines, ushers. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Tweedy and Mrs. C. Hambrecht, Hamilton, sang Ave Maria and Be-cause.

A reception for 60 guests was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Durham, who received in a two-piece navy dress with a corsage bouquet of Rapture roses. The couple left on a wedding trip to Ottawa and Montreal, the bride travelling in a navy costume, her corsage bouquet being of Tullahoma roses. They will reside in Chatham, Ont.

CWAC Operators

Grimsby Loses Guelph Gains

Customers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the public generally will regret to learn that E. M. "Mike" Hourigan, accountant in the local branch has been transferred to Guelph.

"Mike" came to Grimsby in March of 1939 and by his genial and pleasing ways has made a host of friends in this district.

Despite the fact that "Mike" was a banker he had two very fine virtues—he is an Irishman and a Tory.

Mr. R. A. Eaton, of the Donmorth and Corwell branch of the bank in Toronto, has assumed the accountant's position in the Grimsby branch.

Millyard's, Stedman's and Baker's stores were busy spots on Tuesday. Most of the day they were jammed with school kids purchasing their books for the new school term.

Big Basket Picnic At Tintern

All ex-teachers and all ex-pupils of Tintern Public School, and all their friends from far and near, are invited to attend a Basket Picnic, to be held under cover on the United Church Grounds at Tintern on Saturday, September 11th at 12 noon, D.S.T.

All are welcome, but the program will be entirely in the hands of those who have been teachers or pupils of Tintern Public School.

Program will consist of the recitations and songs of the good old days, "When You And I Were Young, Maggie."

Paper plates and table covers will be provided, but guests are requested to bring their own cups for tea, and provide their own knives, forks, spoons and sugar.

Come and be the boys and the girls we used to be.

J. O. Martin, President, R.R. 1, Vineland; J. H. Comfort, Secretary-Treasurer, St. Anna.

Navy League News

Mr. Snetsinger has kindly given us the use of his empty store, No. 4 Main St. W., for our headquarters. This will be a rallying point for us in many ways. When ready we will give full particulars.

"Navy Week" will soon be with us and will be observed throughout the whole of Canada. Grimsby will want to do its share. All the schools make a special collection. "Navy Week" and "Tag Day" are only special appeals made to the people of Canada by the Dominion Navy League.

Judging from the number of marriages, the bonds of matrimony are about as popular as War Bonds.

Boys Overseas Thank I. O. D. E.

Among the many activities of the War Services Committee of the I.O.D.E. is the looking after the welfare of the Grimsby and North Grimsby boys overseas and the following letters express the thanks of the boys for parcels received from this organization.

Upon joining the Forces each boy is given a recruit box and to all who proceed overseas parcels consisting of woolies, toilet goods, and sweets are sent at Christmas and Easter.

As the enlistment has increased approximately 175 boxes will be required this Christmas. Nor are the prisoners of war forgotten. Cigarettes are sent to them at regular intervals, close communication is kept with the next-of-kin, and their parcels are contributed to when necessary.

Comforts and extras, not provided by the navy are sent to the men of the chapter's adopted ship. Ditty bags are filled for the Navy League. Clothing, layettes and quilts are sent to the bomber boys of Britain and clothing is also forwarded to the Polish Relief in Russia.

All of this work requires much effort and money and it is the hope of the war Services Committee that the public will respond generously to the Tag Day appeal next Saturday.

Somewhere at Sea.

Dear Mrs. Fairbank:
Just a line to let you know that I received your ditty bag and I wish to thank you and all of the members of the I.O.D.E. for the interest they are taking in the boys away from home. It really boosts your morale when you know that the folks at home are behind you and thinking of you, especially today, East Sunday, when you would like to be home with your family and friends.

However, if everyone were to stay at home we wouldn't get very far, and besides, this is really an interesting experience, for anyone who has never been to sea before. There is only one place I would rather be than out here bobbing around like a cork, and that is back in Grimsby. I'm sure if we all pull together that that day will not be too far off.

Thanking you again and wishing the I. O. D. E. all the luck in the world. I remain,

Yours sincerely,
Wm. H. Hartnell.

June 12th, 1943.

Dear Mrs. Fairbank:
Once again I have received a parcel from the I.O.D.E. and want to thank the organization through you for being so thoughtful as to always remember me. Needless to say the tooth brush, handkerchief, tooth powder and soap are always necessary essentials. The chocolate bars were de-e-licious.

I have been away from my unit now for seven weeks on a course in the Northern Part of England. However I expect to leave and return to my own unit next week. I miss being with the boys in our own unit. This course is at an English army school and there are only a few Canadian boys here taking the course.

The weather up here has been very cool ever since our arrival. The sun has been shining about four days in the whole seven weeks, so the danger of sun stroke is out. The wind blows continuously. However, that is good for drying clothes. So no matter what the weather is like it always has its benefits. According to letters from home you have had quite a severe winter over there.

The country around here is really wonderful where scenery is concerned. We have schemes which take us many miles from camp which is a pleasant treat as it gets us away from the drill square and lecture rooms which can get pretty monotonous.

In closing I want to thank you again for remembering me in such a swell way. I remain,

Yours truly,
Norm Johnson.

England,
May 25th, 1943.

Dear Mrs. Fairbank:
Yesterday I received a very pleasant and welcome surprise in the form of a parcel from the ladies of the I.O.D.E. so I thought I'd just write a few lines to let you know how much I appreciate it.

The various clubs and other organizations in Grimsby are certainly doing a great job of "looking after the boys." For instance I've received 3 very nice parcels and 2 cartons of cigarettes from different groups in Grimsby, and we've only been over here a comparatively short time. I know I speak for all the Grimsby boys in this country when I say that we over here really appreciate what

Find Stolen Car In Poison Ivy

There is a motor car thief or thieves somewhere in Ontario that probably know by this time that Crime Does Not Pay.

The motor car of F. H. Knight stolen from his Garage in Grimsby Beach on Monday morning. It was later located on a side-road in North Grimsby, west of the town. It had been stripped of all wheels and tires.

The car was found to be sitting in the middle of a large size bed of poison ivy so in all probability the thieves are now doing considerable suffering for their criminal act.

Advertising Found A Kind Landlord

Individuality still gets results in the advertising field as seen by the following classified ad inserted in a Beaumont, Texas, newspaper by a Missouri man who headed his ad with the picture of a man with a frowning face:

"This (the picture) is a landlord. At least, one like most we've seen when they hear we have Ronnie and Rosalie. They're almost orphans by now back in Missouri. Been thinkin' I'd have a long white beard before they're here. My wife wants to see them again before they vote! They aren't hobgoblins, folks. Our home and furniture were easily sold after several years use by Ronnie and Rosalie. We're here permanently and lonesome for our kiddies."

He got results.

In a blunt warning to the editors of the Canadian weekly newspapers, Donald Gordon, Prices Board Chairman said that "unless we get the voluntary and enlightened support of every interest in this country, stabilization of prices will fail. Then must come the alternative, the internal National auction called inflation—and with it demoralization, and finally—chaos. Mr. Gordon said generally, that the great majority of Canadians, living comfortably at home, were better off right now than they have ever been.

you at home are doing for us.

Guess that will give you an idea of what I'm trying to say, anyway. So keep up the good work, and once again,

"Thanks a lot!"
Johnny Farrell.

Aug 7th, 1943.

Dear Mrs. Fairbank:

To-day I received a grand parcel of comforts which you had sent to my old address in the British Isles. However, it followed me up and I have just received it out here in India. You people must be as busy as bees for you always seem to be doing something for us.

We are all anxious to be home again, and such thoughtfulness as has been shown to us by yourselves, and other organizations at home, make us more proud than ever of that land we call home and of those who are waiting to welcome us there.

Once again I thank you.

Jack Morris.

SPORTOLOGY

By Bones Livingston, Sportologist

THIS MALARKEY IS NOT RATIONED

The queer and ghostly noise that you hear as you walk along Main street is not the Death Rattle of some poor soul. It is Honey Shelton's knees knocking. The Little Shoemaker has to muddle aisle it on Saturday to give his lovely sister in marriage, as if Dot needed any assistance to do anything. The Bicycle Baron has been scared indigo for a week past. Wouldn't be surprised if he is shiny black by about 2.30 p.m. Saturday. . . . Bowlaway is open. The lads and lassies are getting set for a big winter. Little Georgie Porgie has the fun centre in smart shape. Tom Thumb McPherson is Georgie's right, left and ace this season and that kid sure knows how to work. He is the making of a champion bowler. . . . Keep this under your chapeau, but before the winter is over there are a lot of keggers going to know that there are a couple or three trundlers in this district by the name of Zimmerman and the old Peach King himself is not the worst of the trio. . . . If this thing goes much further I am going to install a powder room in The Independent office. Peach Queen's Bowling league held their meeting in the jo'at on Friday night and there were almost as many femmes present as graced the banquet tables in the Village Inn last June. They're a great bunch of girls, and what a lot of commotion they will cause before next Victoria Day rolls around! (that is if Billy King will let us celebrate the natal day of Victoria, The Good). Queens have 16 teams in their league this season and the battle is going to be a tough one. No such thing as green bowlers now. They all know their stuff and woe betide any poor male who tries to make out that they don't. . . . Want to buy a baby buggy. Jimmy Wray and Honey Shelton have three for sale. Different kinds. Money goes to the Salvage Fund. You may not need one at the present time but you never can tell. . . . Men's bowling league gets under way on Monday night. 20 teams this year. Could have been 24 but Little George just didn't have the space on the clock to fit them in. From this distance doesn't look like the Highway team, three time champions of the league, are going to do much lording over the other stumblebums this season. Lot of smart teams and smarter bowlers going into action. Looks like a whale of a season. . . . Just while we are on the subject, do not let us forget that one reason why we are going to have a lot of fun at the Bowlaway is because there are over 400 Grimsby and North Grimsby boys and girls in the fighting services, making it possible for us to have that fun. On the cash register counter in the Bowlaway is a little glass jar for the Cigarette Fund. Never pass that jar without dropping in your mite. The boys over there need the smokes. You just put up the cash and Cammy Millyard will do the rest. . . . Had a letter from Toke Fair last week. Toke is carrying a rifle somewhere in the Rocky Mountains. Says they went on a route march the other day and the elevation was seventeen inches to the mile. Tokey is taking on marital status on the 15th. Miss Ella Beamer is the lucky girl, and don't forget Toke has a couple of horseshoes in his kit, too. Good luck and little ones to you, kids. . . . Did you ever hear about the time that Mike Sweet took a buck bill out of Big Rushton. That's some feat, folks, for extracting money out of the Big Barber is like trying to invade France with a sling-shot. There was a hockey game on. Mike offered to bet Rushton a toadskin even up, that he could tell him the score before the game started. Rush told him he was nuts. Mike says, put up your dough and see if I'm nuts. Rush produced the money and hollered "What's the score?" "Nothing, nothing," says Mike, as he collected from the stake holder. Three hours after Big Rush came too. Au Revoir until the next time.

Bowling Leagues Have Many Prizes

Men's League Have Gledhill And Inglehart Trophy — Peach Queen's The Metal Craft — Other Prizes Donated.

Grimsby Bowling league gets under way next Monday night and the schedule for the first half of the season up until the 12th of January will be found in this issue. There are 20 teams in the men's league this year battling it out for the Gledhill and Inglehart trophy and it looks like the competition is going to be tough.

The Peach Queens' league, with 16 teams, will again be going to town for the yearly possession of the Metal Craft trophy. Besides this trophy the Queens have three other prizes to bowl for. St. John and Shaw of the Quality Meat Market have donated two War Savings certificates. One certificate to be awarded for the highest individual score, in league play, during the season. The second certificate to be awarded to the highest individual average, over the season. The Independent War Certificate is awarded to the highest individual score for three games, in schedule play.

Peach Queens' held their meeting on Friday night last and Corrine Robertson, Captain of the league champions, last season, was elected President. Treva Shafer is Secretary-Treasurer and Kae Telford, Secretary.

Clarence L. Lewis, President of the Grimsby and North Grimsby Progressive-Conservative Association, is again donating a War Savings certificate to the boy or girl under 16 years of age with the highest individual score of the season. This certificate was last year won by Alice Neale.

GRAPE CEILING

varieties and 60 cents for Black Roger or reds. Maximum prices for sales of British Columbia grapes are three and four cents per basket higher than those established for Ontario.

The order provides for transportation costs on movement to market. A wholesaler is permitted to add a maximum mark-up of 12½ per cent of his selling price, and a retailer's maximum mark-up is set at 25 per cent of the retail selling price, but the mark-ups are limited to those taken during the basic period.

The board said the ceiling on imported grapes applied on or after Aug. 15, and is based on the importer's cost in the United States, which is under ceiling there. On imported grapes the wholesaler's maximum mark-up is to be 15 per cent of his selling price, and the retailer's maximum mark-up is limited to 30 per cent of the retail selling price, but the mark-ups must in no case exceed those of the basic period.

SLIGHT REDUCTION

signed to encourage marketing in more distant areas. Under the amended order effective Sept. 6, the zones are eliminated, and no differential in price is provided for shipment to any particular area.

"It is expected," the board's announcement said, "that this change will result in a greater proportion of the crop of these fruits being utilized by canners in the centres of production."

The price to growers for sales to licensed shippers or wholesale distribution remains at the level formerly established for Zone No. 1 (Southern Ontario).

A grower is entitled to sell to retailers or consumers and take the same markups as are allowed on sales by wholesalers and retailers. A definite markup, not to exceed 10 per cent of his selling price, is provided for a licensed shipper in a producing area distributing to the wholesale and retail trades.

The margins allowed to wholesale distributors and retailers remain unchanged at 12½ and 25 per cent, respectively, of their selling prices.

In announcing the amended order, officials said that "no possible board action" could make more of these fruits available, since the supply reflects "unusually light crops" in fruit-producing areas this year.

The total structural weight aircraft produced in Britain in 1942 was 56% more than in 1941, and contained about twice the weight of heavy and medium bombers, four times the number of large flying boats and a very substantial output of new types.

Population Makes Large Increase

St. Catharines City Gains 2,000 Over Last Year—10,000 Increase in Past 10 Years.

The largest single gain in St. Catharines' population ever to be recorded was announced Saturday by Assessment Commissioner M. H. Laird. An increase of almost 2,000 persons sent the total population up to 34,541, the largest ever.

The 1942 census showed a population of 32,559, and while the past 12 months has brought a gain of almost 2,000, Commissioner Laird said there is no doubt but that there are at least 5,000 persons residing in suburbs immediately outside St. Catharines, who would have taken up residence in the city if homes had been available.

In the past 10 years the population has gained almost eight thousand since the outbreak of war. The 1933 population, Mr. Laird recalled, was 26,394 and in 1939, the year war broke out, it was 27,756.

The assessment officer also believes that there will be a substantial gain in the assessment, figures for this financial survey being announced later.

Grimsby Boy Gets The Copy Through

Writing from Allied Headquarters in Sicily, Maurice Desjardins, a Canadian Press correspondent with the Canadian troops, says:

"The copy must get through."
"Canadian 'front line copy boys' have kept that in mind while riding their motorcycles under enemy fire on back breaking roads, acting as a first link between the news of the fighting Canadians and the people back home."

Desjardins tells of some hair-breadth experiences of some of the boys and also gives a list of the lads that are handling this job. In the list is the name of Pte. Cliff Hunt of Grimsby, son of Samuel and Mrs. Hunt, now temporarily residing in Brantford. Cliff has been overseas for over three years.

A Wartime Prices and Trade Board order which became effective August 11, makes it illegal for a merchant to require a customer to buy additional goods when buying other goods that are in short supply. Exceptions are made for any practices of this nature that were established during or before the basic period, September 15—October 11, 1941. This order does not apply to goods which are distributed under provincial direction, such as alcoholic beverages.

lying across the wiaks. Police will pick up all bicycles found on the side walks and they will be impounded for any period of time that they deem fit, from three days to three weeks.

Council will view the sidewalk and boulevard at the corner of Main and Depot streets, at the Eaton order office with the idea in mind of widening this spot by at least five feet. This widening would extend down Depot street as far as the residence of Samuel Levine. The widening of this corner would not be an expensive job and would make it one of the safest corners in town.

County Clerk Millward notified council that Grimsby had a credit balance at County of $1,234. This was brought about by the fact that the Town prepaid its 1943 County Rate in January last. In August the County Rate was struck at a reduced rate under 1942, hence the balance. This money will be retained by County council until December 20th. On suggestion of Mayor Johnson council agreed to notifying Clerk Millward to retain said money until January first for application on the 1944 County Rate.

Collections of all taxes, arrears, penalties and current, from January first to August 31st total $45,296.16.

Council acknowledged letter of invitation received from Rev. J. Allan Ballard inviting members of council to attend service at St. Andrew's on Sunday last.

August Police report showed no court cases; complaints investigated 33; three men apprehended for Camp Borden Military District; one stolen bicycle recovered; one break-in; two car accidents; four dogs, nine cats for Humane Officer; dog tax collected, $10.00.

Resignation of Leslie Blanchard as school traffic officer was accepted.

A building lot on Fairview ave. was authorized to be sold to Robt. Cosby, no house to be built on same.

William W. Turner was sold a lot on Fairview avenue, no house to be built on same.

Relief accounts for August amounting to $43.00 were ordered paid.

Joint Fire Committee accounts for $30.60 were ordered paid.

General accounts for $615.00 were ordered paid.

Council adjourned to meet on Wednesday night, September 15th.

WILL GIVE LABOR

relations and determine what amendments are needed. Organized labor representatives will be on this committee for the presentation of a fact-finding report on the remedying of the labor and management situation.

The Minister made the announcement during his first public address since becoming a member of the Ontario Cabinet. He spoke after 3,500 members of Toronto District Council marched to Sunnyside Beach to stage their Labor Day celebration. Mr. Dely said he was in favor of labor organizations and the right of a worker to choose his own organization.

"We want unions strong not only in numbers, but in the spirit of justice, fair play and co-operation," said the speaker. "We want to preserve the incentive of private initiative, on which this country has become great. What labor wants is steady work at fair wages under good conditions, a greater amount of security against sickness and old age, a fair share of the fruits of their labor. I am making a careful study of the Workmen's Compensation Act to see what worthwhile amendments may be made to improve what every one must admit is an excellent piece of legislation."

Mr. Daley paid tribute to the great contribution which labor has made, and is making toward the war effort. He pointed out that workers are making the tools of war that are being used with such success by their sons overseas.

"My friends have consoled me, and say: 'They gave you a tough job,' the Labor Minister said. They may be right. There is a middle course to be followed that will give us reforms, but will not create upheaval. I will be fair to you as labor men and to management. If you suggest things that are fair, reasonable and just, I will fight for you; if not, I will fight against you. I ask labor to carry on and achieve results, not by strikes or stoppages, but by discussion in committee room. I will give labor a fair break."

Salvage Needed

Do I deserve these things I call my own?

Have I considered aught but me and me alone?

My theme song thro these years of strife,

How little can I give and save my life.

What I have lost was joy in service given

Oh God of mercy teach me this, What'er I give, I'll never miss.

Asks Grape Men To Play Fair

It "Niagara-Vineland local of the Niagara Grape Growers held its annual meeting last week and elected the following officers: President, Richard Morley; secretary, Don Creelman; treasurer, David Stevens; executive committee, Ray Stone, Don Jory, John Porter, D. H. Laundry; representatives on central executive, A. W. Smith, Lorne Hill.

President Morley told the members to be careful about selling their grapes and to wait for a definite price. The delegation that recently went to Ottawa, he stated, had secured a price of $50 a ton for wine grapes, but the basket price would be settled later. He had assurance, he stated, that this local could have the patronage of every winery in Ontario next year if the members played fair.

NEW RENTAL ORDER

EFFECTIVE OCT. 1

Greater certainty of the new position for both tenant and landlord is the object of the new rental regulations which become effective October 1. Among the changes effected by the order are: the minimum notice to vacate is reduced from 12 to six months; applications for increased rental will be considered only where the tenant is receiving more value for his rent; general simplification of conditions under which a purchaser may secure possession of accommodation without undue hardship on the tenant; appointment of local rental appraisers who will deal with applications for change in rents.

SPIRIT OF RATION "BUY ONLY NEEDS"

Canada's new coupon ration book, the third to be issued since the war began, contains a thought which should be borne in mind by all Canadians who are anxious to live up to the spirit of rationing. It is this: "In wartime, goods are rationed because by the selfish or unnecessary overbuying of some at the expense of others' essential needs. The utmost conservation of supplies is necessary. You should regard this ration book as a permit to buy rationed goods if you need them—not otherwise. It does not entitle you to purchase rationed commodities for the use of someone else unless he resides in your household."

LIFE OF ROOKIE RECRUIT IS NOT TOO TOUGH A ONE

Everything is Strange And Mysterious But he Soon Learns That it is Not as Bad as he Had Pictured.

THOSE N.C.O.'s

First Two Miles With Full Kit Are The Hardest—Soon Does 10 or 12 Miles And Thinks it is Play.

A three hooker, sergeant to you, paces the station platform in the best manual of elementary drill style, and watches as the train filled to the last coach spews forth its cargo of raw recruits.

This is the first glimpse of the new life to begin, that the rookie gets, upon detraining at a basic training centre. Milling around the platform, straightening packs and straps with a wary eye upon the sergeant, the rookie tries to make up his mind whether he is going to like army life, all the while keeping up a continuous stream of talk on the turn the European situation will take, now that he is in the army.

Out of the seemingly chaotic noise and confusion the stentorian voice of the sergeant knifes through, "Line up in three ranks... Come on, on the double". As if by magic the noise ceases and three ranks are formed up the full length of the platform. Anxious eyes search the face of the man next to him wondering what the next move will be. Inasmuch as the man next to him has a peculiar blank expression on his face, the rookie then turns to the man on his left where he once again encounters no sign of what may be ensuing.

Resignedly the rookie, formerly an office worker, a factory worker or perhaps a professional man, assumes the same expression and waits.

He is rudely awakened from his blank reverie by the bagpipes in the process of being tuned up. Together with the bustle and bustle with n.c.o.'s flying all over the place taking up position in front and behind the latest batch of recruits. The officer in charge of the party of men gives the command to quick march and the recruits enter on the final stage which leads them into the basic training centre.

By the time the camp is reached the rookie has had his first taste of what it is like to march in full kit. To shoulders that up to now that have felt no weight except that caused by carrying a suitcase to the station for the annual summer holiday it is no mean feat to negotiate the two miles from the station to the camp. This in contrast to the same man who thinks nothing of negotiating ten or twelve miles after weeks of conditioning.

Upon being assembled to a camp each man is assigned two platoons where for third train uniforms he will work arduous under the tutelage of

He meets his platoon sergeant, usually a tough looking gentleman but whose heart is in the right place. A man he can always depend on to give the best that is in him, plus a little more. Then the corporals who occupy the same hut and who are perhaps the hardest working men in any basic training centre are the next in line for surveillance. It is indeed rare that the rookie does not immediately "take" to his n.c.o.'s. Late on in his training he will find that he will be justified in thinking very highly of them. They become his father confessor, his best friends and last but not least, extremely patient instructors.

In the year that war broke out Britain imported more than 1,890,000 tons of paper-making materials. Today her imports are negligible and paper is being made from salvaged paper and sometimes from cotton rags.
